

GRANDIOSE ART

ABOUT US

"The aim of art is to represent not the outward appearance of things, but their inward significance"- Aristotle

Grandiose core idea is to create a platform that allows art admirers and enthusiasts to connect with various art styles and an ecosystem that allows budding artists to get the recognition and appreciation they deserve. Grandiose strongly believes that art should be accessible to everyone to be truly appreciated. Situated in a peaceful and serene location, the Grandiose Art Gallery aims to create an immersive experience for art lovers where they can have an intimate conversation with the artworks without any distractions from the outside world. A sector of people was neglected during the Covid-19 pandemic, the artists. They struggled to get a stable source of income for their hard work during this challenging phase. Art galleries were on the verge of closing due to severe losses, and the artists who relied on these galleries for a living struggled to make ends meet. The founder of Grandiose, Mrs. Simmi Prasanth took this opportunity to contribute to the artist community by helping them receive the recognition they deserved and ensuring that they get the rightful value for their hard work. It was because of their passion and love for art, they took it upon themselves to save and revive an art gallery that found it difficult to keep its doors open due to the pandemic.

"Grandiose is a community for aspiring artists to showcase their creativity and ultimately gain value and recognition for their work"

TEAM

Our team at Grandiose, comprised of individuals from diverse cultures and professional backgrounds, is united by a passion for art and a desire to uplift the artist community by giving them the recognition and stability they deserve.

Simmi Prasanth
(Managing Director)

Born and brought up in Kerala, Simmi is a Post Graduate in Computer Science. Despite being a software engineer and teacher by profession, she always had a passion for art and interior design.

Her love for travel and meeting new people to understand their culture and daily lives led her to meet many talented artists across India, and as a result, her love for art grew even more. Slowly, she started collecting art pieces from different exhibitions and various individual artists. In addition, she gifted those art pieces on multiple occasions, and people loved her unique approach to gifting.

It was one of those days when she thought of opening an art gallery, as she felt the need to support them and their families by giving them financial stability and helping them gain recognition for their unique work.

Name: Bijayananda Biswal
Artistic Alias: Bijay Biswaal
(Chief Advisory)

Date of birth: May 16, 1964

Birthplace: Odisha, India

Background and Career:

Bijay Biswaal is a self-taught artist who was born and raised in Odisha, India. He grew up with a passion for art and started drawing at a young age. However, he pursued a career in the government sector and worked there for several years.

Eventually, his love for art drew him back, and he decided to quit his job and pursue art full-time. He started painting and experimenting with different styles and techniques, eventually developing his unique style of redefining realism.

Biswaal's artwork gained recognition, and he became the first Indian Brand Ambassador of the iconic Winsor and Newton Art Company. He has also been recognized by several art organizations and has won numerous awards for his work.

Style and Influences:

Biswaal's artwork is known for redefining realism. He uses vibrant colors and bold brushstrokes to create realistic yet surrealistic depictions of everyday life. His work is influenced by his childhood memories and experiences, as well as the culture and traditions of his home state.

Biswaal has stated that he is also inspired by the works of Indian artists such as M.F. Hussain and Raja Ravi Varma, as well as European artists like Vincent van Gogh and Pablo Picasso.

Overall,

Bijay Biswaal's journey from a self-taught artist to a successful painter and Brand Ambassador is a testament to the power of pursuing one's passion and following one's dreams.

Artist's Statement

Artist who respects no limit on creativity ... No artistic boundary.

Art could not be contained in to a single format, Genre or language. Ever dynamic flow of creativity flourishes best when let loose, Untamed, Unhindered ... Unchattered ! From a self taught man born in a remote corner of idyllic odisha to a railway man to one of the inspiring self taught artist of national and international repute. Biswaal through his chequered rendezvous has changed the way a self taught is looked at by the art world and art lovers in general.

His technical perfection in his trade has left art lovers ... Connoisseurs and art critics gasping for more : Water Color, Acrylic, Oil pastel, Collage, Cartoon, Caricature. He has left his own mark in all the genre and medium. He always maintains his best is yet to come.

Acrylic Color Paintings

Name: Mahesh Patra (Visual Artist & Chief Art consultant)

Mahesh Pattar is a Bengaluru based Visual Artist and Educator. He is the founder of Art Realm Studio where he practices abstract painting, sculpting and wood art among many other interests. He enjoys bringing together artists, collaborators and learners in creating multidisciplinary art projects, one that breaks and makes new boundaries of what making art can be.

In educational spaces, his work has taken him to home-run art classes for children as well as schools, colleges, universities and even to Indian Institute of Science where he charters new territory every year by offering a course in Visual Arts to Science undergraduate students. Currently he is the Principal at Visthar Academy of Culture and Contemporary Studies, Doddagubbi, Bengaluru.

Artist Statement:

Art always surprises my curious mind irrespective of the outcome of making it. It always astonishes me how the limited canvas can be utilized in unlimited ways. It was quite early on itself, from my school days that I plunged head-first into expressing myself through art.

Like a playful child, my earlier works were purely an act of imprinting my visions on the canvas. Through the course of time and with the partaking of various educational qualifications and life experiences, now my paintings and other creations carry much more depth and girth in them, and aim to captivate the spectator's curiosity as much as mine.

The fresh dialogue I experience with every work enables me to uncover new horizons and visions. Making art is my purpose for living. Every work I start and finish is like "crossing another bridge."

In my works, the first glance shows abstractness, but going further, all that you'll find is simply pure energy revealing the colors of my expressions. When I start a painting, I usually try keeping my mind blank. I believe that predetermination will confine one's creativity. During the process, I emphasize on nurturing the transition of colours and allow time and space for it to grow. Before I realized, the work would have taken its own form! This play and growth of energy give me a foundation to improvise upon. Thus, every work of mine stands apart and on its own, for it brings out various emotions both for me and for the interpretative viewer.

Ultimately, I concur wholeheartedly with what Henry Miller beautifully says and quotes: “To make living itself is an art, that is the goal”.
